WALSH OFFERING TO BE ADOPTED

Calls for Cancellation of Naval Oil Land Leases.

HELD ILLEGALLY EXECUTED

Strong Pressure Being Brought Upon Secretary Denby to Resign From the Cabinet, It Is Said—Fight Opened Against Former Attorney General Gregory—Senator Norris Sees Disregard For Law.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The senate forecast the certain passage of the Walsh resolution demanding cancellation of ex-Secretary Fall's leases of naval oil lands to E. L. Doheny and H. P. Sinclair, on the ground that the leases were illegally executed by Fall and Secretary of the Navy Denby, on behalf of the government.

In three test votes the combined Democrats and progressives defeated attempts to amend the resolution by modifying its condemnatory language. It is considered certain that the resolution will pass by the same majority of votes which will likewise pass the Robinson resolution, calling for the dismissal of Denby and the Wheeler resolution calling for the dismissal of Attorney General Daugherty, unless these cabinet members voluntarily resign.

It is indicated that President Coolidge, acting through administration senators, is bringing the strongest pressure upon Denby to resign, and it is considered likely that the secretary of the navy will bow to the president's demand.

After ex-Secretary Fall's physicians appeared before the senatorial investigating committee and testified just why, in their opinion, Fall was physically unable to appear before the committee, the hearing was adjourned until tomorrow. The committee, however, was unwilling to accept the testimony of the Fall doctors without a checkup. The committee, therefore, appointed two nerve specialists, who will examine Fall in the meantime.

A fight was opened against ex-Attorney General Gregory, one of President Coolidge's nominees for independent work to prosecute those who are found to be guilty in the naval oil leases. Senator McKellar has proposed an amendment to the house bill appropriating $100,000 for this prosecution. The amendment forbids the use of any of these funds for employment of any lawyer whose firm has ever worked for oil companies. It is understood that Gregory's law firm comes within this designation, having represented the Gulf Refining company.

The house naval affairs committee drew from Rear Admiral Latimer the admission that Secretary Denby was responsible for the policy of selling the government's reserve oil to Doheny and Sinclair in return for the construction of oil storage tanks. This is considered by senate lawyers the most illegal of all the phases of the oil contracts.

Senator Norris, in a speech on the floor of the senate, denounced the "disregard for law which had been set by an entire group in the president's cabinet," disposing of the navy oil reserve in a manner not only unauthorized by congress, but in direct contravention of laws passed by congress. He charged Secretary of State Hughes, as an eminent lawyer and former justice of the supreme court, with part of the responsibility for the scandal, because he did not warn his fellow cabinet members that in making the oil leases they were violating the country's laws. Norris demanded that Doheny should not be let off with a simple cancellation of his oil leases, but should receive no compensation for the monies he expended under an illegal contract.

Senator Underwood declared it was as "clear as the noonday sun" that an officer of the government has made a grant of public property that will greatly enrich the recipients thereof and at the same time has received benefits for himself. He added he was sorry an opportunity would not be given for a direct vote to declare the leases null and void. He declared this was a question that goes to the very heart of the government, and senators should permit a vote on the question without evasion.

CONDEMNS FALL

Senator Willis Says Ex-Secretary Was Guilty of Base Act

Detroit, Jan. 31.—"Albert B. Fall was guilty of a base act of betrayal of his closest friend the late President Harding, when, as a cabinet member, he accepted a loan of $100,000 and then signed over to private interests the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills oil leases," declared Senator Willis of Ohio. "I believe I have made the closest scrutiny of any member of the senate of Fall's part in this deal and from the evidence so far obtained I can conclude only that he has been extremely reprehensible in his conduct and should certainly face criminal prosecution, if not some more severe action for what he has done," said the Ohio senator.

Senator Willis used the strongest possible language in his approval of President Coolidge's handling of the investigation to date and his appointment of Special Prosecutors Thomas W. Gregory and Silas H. Strawn.

AMENDMENT WOULD DISQUALIFY GREGORY

Bars Anyone Connected With Oil Company as Counsel.

Washington, Jan. 31.—An amendment to the $100,000 special oil lease counsel appropriation resolution, which has the appearance of being a direct drive against at least one of the attorneys named by President Coolidge, former Attorney General Gregory, was introduced in the senate by Senator McKellar (Dem., Tenn.). The amendment reads: "Provided that no part of this appropriation shall be available as compensation of any person appointed hereunder who shall be connected or may have been connected with any oil company, directly or indirectly, as counsel."

Gregory within the past year has been employed as counsel for the Gulf Refining company in the prosecution of a claim against the United States government, involving approximately $750,000, growing out of the commandeering and use of oil tankers of the Gulf company by the government during the war.

The case was brought in the court of claims contesting the tonnage valuation of approximately $4 per ton fixed by the United States shipping board as compensation for the use of the Gulf company's ships. The company claimed approximately 40 or 50 per cent more than the original award. The case involved a number of questions, part of which were decided in favor of the government and part in favor of the refining company. Neither side has appealed the decision, though the period in which an appeal may be filed has not expired.

Bergdoll Pleased.

Eberbach, Baden, Jan. 31.—"I am glad he is out. I don't wish any hard luck to anybody." That was the comment of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the Pennsylvania draft dodger, when told that Lieutenant Griffiths had been pardoned after being convicted of attempted kidnaping for trying to seize Bergdoll and force him to return to America.

MEANS SAVING OF MILLIONS

Cut in Taxes to Be Paid This Year on 1923 Incomes.

PROPOSAL FAVORED BY SOLONS

Reduction Virtually Assured This Year by the Action of Majority Members of the House Ways and Means Committee—Democratic Members, It Is Announced, Will Agree to the Cut.

Washington, Jan. 31.—An unexpected saving of $225,000,000 for all persons paying income taxes is virtually assured by the action of the majority members of the house ways and means committee.

On motion of Chairman William R. Green, of Iowa, the Republicans on the committee in a party meeting agreed unanimously to include in the forthcoming tax reduction bill a provision making a flat reduction in income taxes to be paid this year on last year's incomes.

The rate of the reduction was not definitely determined, but Chairman Green stated it likely will be 25 per cent. It is not possible to go higher than that, he said. Treasury experts advised the committee that a 25 per cent cut would mean a saving of $225,000,000. The estimated surplus of $320,000,000 in the treasury, Green pointed out, would be amply sufficient to take care of this amount.

The chairman explained that the proposed reduction would work this way: Tax returns will go in as usual by March 15 and the income taxes will be computed in the regular manner on the present rates. Where an individual has paid or should pay the full amount of his tax in a lump sum when it first comes due, March 15, Green went on, the amount of the reduction will be refunded to him. Where payments are made in installments, a provision will be made to allocate the reduction over the remaining installments.

Chairman Green said it would be his intention to include the cut in the general tax bill now under consideration, but in reply to a question he said it might be proposed as a joint resolution making the reduction, brought out and put through, if it should appear that the general measure was going to be unduly delayed. It is expected, however, this feature will add to the popularity of the general bill and increase the credit to the Republican party, even though it is unable to put through all other provisions of the Mellon plan intact.

Commenting on his motion, Chairman Green said: "I realize this is not a scientific plan, but it is impossible to make the rates in the general bill apply to the taxes to be paid this year. The flat reduction I proposed seems to be the only way by which relief can be given on income taxes payable in 1924."

The Democrats in the committee undoubtedly will agree to the cut and it is not believed any element in either the house or senate would dare oppose it. The Republican members of the committee predicted its inclusion in the bill will insure its adoption.

FIGHT TO FINISH LOOMS

Oregon Has His Foes Exactly Where He Wants Them.

Mexico City, Jan. 31.—Another "decisive" battle of the revolution, perhaps the last, now looms up near Morelia, the capital of the state of Michoacan. Seven thousand rebels, reunited under former War Minister Enrique Estrada, are according to the war office, only a few miles from the converging federal columns, totaling more than 10,000. The war office believes that President Obregon at last has his foes in the west exactly where he wants them for a fight to the finish. More than 2,000 of Estrada's soldiers are said to lack rifles. The remainder, however, are well equipped. President Obregon has recalled 4,000 Mayas from Jalisco for the expected battle.

Would Probe Anti-Bonus Move.

Washington, Jan. 31.—An investigation of large financial interests of the nation who are contributing "hundreds of thousands of dollars to control public sentiment to defeat the soldier bonus," is sought by Representative Cable, Republican, of Lima, O., in a resolution introduced in the house. Cable charges that the ex-service men's anti-bonus league is spending $200,000 every three months in its anti-bonus propaganda efforts.

CANDLER NOTES READ IN COURT

Fair Complainant's Story Set Forth by Attorney.

SEEKS $500,000 HEART BALM

Candler a Widower at the Time of His Wooing, It Is Pointed Out, While the Defense Claims Mrs. De Bouchelle Was Still a Wife—Candler's Marriage to Young Woman Adds Another Complication.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 31.—The distinct impression one gets from the De Bouchelle-Candler breach of promise suit is that above all things it is decidedly and emphatically dignified.

It opened in Judge Sibley's federal court and was marked by an imposing array of counsel for both sides. Mrs. Onezima De Bouchelle of New Orleans, noted for her beauty, wealth and social prestige, is suing Asa G. Candler, capitalist, philanthropist and pioneer citizen of Atlanta, nationally known as the "little father of Coca Cola," for $500,000 for alleged breach of promise to marry her.

Mrs. De Bouchelle's appearance was not conspicuous in any way and ordinarily might have attracted only casual attention. She is tall and stately, and bears herself in a calm and stately manner. Her story, as vigorously set forth by her leading counsel, Arthur B. Howell, Jr., is the usual romance. She came to Atlanta from New Orleans as official chaperone of a party of young people to a United Confederate Veterans' convention here. In the social course of things she met Mr. Candler. He began corresponding with her. Soon his affection developed into love. It was said, and in January, 1922, the two became engaged. Mr. Candler at that time was a widower, but the defense claims that Mrs. De Bouchelle was still a wife, legally the wife of Dr. Adolph Roquent, to whom she was married in 1902.

Anyway, the romance progressed, as evidenced by the numerous letters Mr. Candler wrote to her. The letters read impressed one as being honest, sincere and, even when exposed to reading, stood out as the courageous expression of a man actuated by a fine sense of devotion. The terms of endearment used are nicely sentimental. They would hardly be regarded as "love letters" in less sentimental vein.

Mr. Candler came into the courtroom during the reading of the letters. Mrs. De Bouchelle sat across the room from him. Apparently he was not interested in her presence. The romance was finally broken off in a letter written by him to his fiancée in Reno on Sept. 5, with the date for the wedding set for Sept. 20. Meanwhile Mr. Candler has added another complication. He is married and his wife is younger and equally as handsome as Mrs. De Bouchelle.

WILL EXAMINE FALL

Nerve Specialists to Report to Senate Investigating Committee.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Three eminent nerve specialists were appointed by the senate oil lease investigating committee to examine former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall and report his condition to the committee tomorrow. They are Dr. Thomas Caylor, Dr. Daniel Stuart and Dr. Sterling Ruffin, celebrated neurologists.

They will advise the committee whether Mr. Fall's condition is such that he would be gravely imperiled by quitting his bed and journeying to the witness stand in the senate office building, some three miles distant. If the specialists say he ought not be required to make the trip, either the full committee of 13 senators or a subcommittee will go to Mr. Fall's bedside and question him there under oath. Previous reports that Mr. Fall was suffering on the edge of bronchial pneumonia were disproved when four physicians testified there was nothing wrong with Fall organically.

Lewis Scores Point.

Indianapolis, Jan. 31.—President John L. Lewis scored another victory in the United Mine Workers' convention here when a constitutional amendment seeking to limit the appointive power of the international president failed to pass on a roll call vote. The vote was 2,263 against the resolution and 2,106 in its favor, giving the administration a majority of 157. The proposed amendment sought to make international organizers elective positions instead of appointive.

UP TO DONAHEY

Laxity in Law Enforcement Charged Against Canton Official.

Columbus, Jan. 31.—A delegation of Canton citizens made a direct request that Governor Donahey employ the provisions of the Miller act to suspend Safety Director E. E. Curtis of Canton, and to hold a hearing on charges of laxity in law enforcement that have been lodged against him. Clark A. Metzger, acting as spokesman for the delegation, said that there is an "overwhelming sentiment" in Canton that Mr. Curtis is guilty and that the city would be "relieved of that odium" if the accused is either convicted or exonerated by the governor.

Former Speaker H. H. Griswold of the attorney general's office conducted an investigation of the situation in Canton several weeks ago, with the result that Attorney General Crabbe told the governor that there is no immediate need of a grand jury investigation. In this connection, Mr. Metzger said that additional evidence has been procured by Attorney J. L. Hilton, and that some 30 or 40 reliable witnesses could be called in support of the charges.

Governor Donahey will give audience to Attorney Hilton early next week, at which time the evidence will be presented and the governor will decide whether to accede to the wishes of the delegation.

TEST VOTES TAKEN

Walsh Resolution Certain of Passage by the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Three test votes taken in the senate on amendments proposed to the Walsh resolution demanding cancellation of the oil leases demonstrated that the resolution is certain of passage when it reaches the final vote. It was almost made certain that the same vote will get behind the resolution demanding resignations from Secretary Denby and Attorney General Daugherty.

The combination of the votes of the progressive Republicans and Democrats is sufficient to pass the Denby-Daugherty resolution whenever a roll call is demanded. Seven senators on the Republican side voted with the Democrats in the test votes, defeating various attempts to modify the Walsh resolution and soften its terms in relation to the acts of Fall and Denby. It is believed that the Walsh resolution will be passed by acclamation when the final vote is taken this evening.

Arrested in Brewery Raid.

Columbus, Jan. 31.—Eight men, arrested in connection with the closing down of the plant of the Joy Products company here, were arraigned before Mayor Thomas E. Fulton at Grove City. All entered pleas of not guilty to liquor charges and the cases were continued for trial until Feb. 12. Charges of unlawful manufacturing and possessing intoxicating liquor were placed against the men.

Columbus, Jan. 31.—The resignation of Dr. E. J. Emerick as superintendent of the Columbus state hospital for feeble-minded and his appointment as executive physician of the bureau of juvenile research was announced by John E. Harper, director of public welfare. It is the first change in the management of the state hospital for the feeble-minded that has been made since 1907, when Dr. Emerick was appointed superintendent. His successor will be named this week by Director Harper.

Fourteen Wells Condemned.
Newark, O., Jan. 31.—Fourteen of the 34 wells at Buckeye Lake, from which the public water supply is drawn, have been ordered by the state health department to be abandoned and filled by April 1. The wells were examined by R. C. Sweeney, assistant sanitary engineer of the state health department, and it was reported that the water is unfit for use and dangerous for those who use it. Nine of these 14 wells ordered filled are in Licking county and five in Fairfield.

Given Suspended Sentence.
Springfield, O., Jan. 31.—Mrs. Margaret Bost, 65, who was indicted on the charge of manslaughter in the shooting of Nettie Pritchard, 16, on Oct. 24, changed her plea to guilty and was sentenced to an indeterminate term of from one to 20 years in the Marysville reformatory. The sentence was suspended by the court with the understanding that she shall be committed to a private sanatorium.

Kills Wife and Self.
Akron, O., Jan. 31.—George Funk, 40, former automobile dealer, shot and killed his wife, Bertha Funk, and then killed himself. Detectives believe Funk was enraged because his wife had filed a suit for divorce against him last Saturday. Mrs. Funk charged her husband with drunkenness and with squandering his money on other women. Two children survive.

Student Slain.
Cincinnati, Jan. 31.—Body of John A. Mazzola, 26, Panama student of Ohio College of Dental Surgery, was found in Duck creek at Norwood, near here. Examination revealed a bullet wound in his head and several bullet holes in his hat. One of his pockets contained $110. His $1,200 ring was missing.

Bootblacks Boost Price.
Youngstown, O., Jan. 31.—A new development in the blue law situation here was the announcement by bootblacks that the price of Saturday shoe shines hereafter would be 15 cents instead of 10, because they are not permitted to shine shoes on Sunday.

HERE AND THERE

Pope Pius received a delegation of sailors from the American warship Colorado. The men were presented by Monsignor Eugene Burke, vice rector of the American college in Rome.

Three women, prepared for operations, were carried from the women's clinic building of Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore when fire started in the machinery room directly beneath the B operating room. The flames were confined to the one building.

CANDLER NOTES READ IN COURT

Fair Complainant's Story Set Forth by Attorney.

SEEKS $500,000 HEART BALM

Candler a Widower at the Time of His Wooing. It Is Pointed Out, While the Defense Claims Mrs. De Bouchelle Was Still a Wife—Candler's Marriage to Young Woman Adds Another Complication.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 31.—The distinct impression one gets from the De Bouchelle-Candler breach of promise suit is that above all things it is decidedly and emphatically dignified.

It opened in Judge Sibley's federal court and was marked by an imposing array of counsel for both sides. Mrs. Onezima De Bouchelle of New Orleans, noted for her beauty, wealth and social prestige, is suing Asa G. Candler, capitalist, philanthropist and pioneer citizen of Atlanta, nationally known as the "little father of Coca Cola," for $500,000 for alleged breach of promise to marry her.

Mrs. De Bouchelle's appearance was not conspicuous in any way and ordinarily might have attracted only casual attention. She is tall and stately, and bears herself in a calm and stately manner. Her story, as vigorously set forth by her leading counsel, Arthur B. Howell, Jr., is the usual romance. She came to Atlanta from New Orleans as official chaperone of a party of young people to a United Confederate Veterans' convention here. In the social course of things she met Mr. Candler. He began corresponding with her. Soon his affection developed into love. It was said, and in January, 1922, the two became engaged. Mr. Candler at that time was a widower, but the defense claims that Mrs. De Bouchelle was still a wife, legally the wife of Dr. Adolph Roquemore, to whom she was married in 1902.

Anyway, the romance progressed, as evidenced by the numerous letters Mr. Candler wrote to her. The letters read impressed one as being honest, sincere and, even when exposed to reading, stood out as the courageous expression of a man actuated by a fine sense of devotion. The terms of endearment used are nicely sentimental. They would hardly be regarded as "love letters" in less sentimental vein.

Mr. Candler came into the courtroom during the reading of the letters. Mrs. De Bouchelle sat across the room from him. Apparently he was not interested in her presence. The romance was finally broken off in a letter written by him to his fiancée in Reno on Sept. 5, with the date for the wedding set for Sept. 20. Meanwhile Mr. Candler has added another complication. He is married and his wife is younger and equally as handsome as Mrs. De Bouchelle.

WILL EXAMINE FALL

Nerve Specialists to Report to Senate Investigating Committee.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Three eminent nerve specialists were appointed by the senate oil lease investigating committee to examine former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall and report his condition to the committee tomorrow. They are Dr. Thomas Caylor, Dr. Daniel Stuart and Dr. Sterling Ruffin, celebrated neurologists.

They will advise the committee whether Mr. Fall's condition is such that he would be gravely imperiled by quitting his bed and journeying to the witness stand in the senate office building, some three miles distant. If the specialists say he ought not be required to make the trip, either the full committee of 13 senators or a subcommittee will go to Mr. Fall's bedside and question him there under oath. Previous reports that Mr. Fall was suffering on the edge of bronchial pneumonia were disproved when four physicians testified there was nothing wrong with Fall organically.

Lewis Scores Point.
Indianapolis, Jan. 31.—President John L. Lewis scored another victory in the United Mine Workers' convention here when a constitutional amendment seeking to limit the appointive power of the international president failed to pass on a roll call vote. The vote was 2,263 against the resolution and 2,106 in its favor, giving the administration a majority of 157. The proposed amendment sought to make international organizers elective positions instead of appointive.

UP TO DONAHEY

Laxity in Law Enforcement Charged Against Canton Official.

Columbus, Jan. 31.—A delegation of Canton citizens made a direct request that Governor Donahey employ the provisions of the Miller act to suspend Safety Director E. E. Curtis of Canton, and to hold a hearing on charges of laxity in law enforcement that have been lodged against him. Clark A. Metzger, acting as spokesman for the delegation, said that there is an "overwhelming sentiment" in Canton that Mr. Curtis is guilty and that the city would be "relieved of that odium" if the accused is either convicted or exonerated by the governor.

Former Speaker H. H. Griswold of the attorney general's office conducted an investigation of the situation in Canton several weeks ago, with the result that Attorney General Crabbe told the governor that there is no immediate need of a grand jury investigation. In this connection, Mr. Metzger said that additional evidence has been procured by Attorney J. L. Hilton, and that some 30 or 40 reliable witnesses could be called in support of the charges.

Governor Donahey will give audience to Attorney Hilton early next week, at which time the evidence will be presented and the governor will decide whether to accede to the wishes of the delegation.

TEST VOTES TAKEN

Walsh Resolution Certain of Passage by the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Three test votes taken in the senate on amendments proposed to the Walsh resolution demanding cancellation of the oil leases demonstrated that the resolution is certain of passage when it reaches the final vote. It was almost made certain that the same vote will get behind the resolution demanding resignations from Secretary Denby and Attorney General Daugherty.

The combination of the votes of the progressive Republicans and Democrats is sufficient to pass the Denby-Daugherty resolution whenever a roll call is demanded. Seven senators on the Republican side voted with the Democrats in the test votes, defeating various attempts to modify the Walsh resolution and soften its terms in relation to the acts of Fall and Denby. It is believed that the Walsh resolution will be passed by acclamation when the final vote is taken this evening.

Arrested in Brewery Raid.

Columbus, Jan. 31.—Eight men, arrested in connection with the closing down of the plant of the Joy Products company here, were arraigned before Mayor Thomas E. Felton at Grove City. All entered pleas of not guilty to liquor charges and the cases were continued for trial until Feb. 12. Charges of unlawful manufacturing and possessing intoxicating liquor were placed against the men.

A TRAIN EPISODE

By MOLLIE MATHER

(Copyright, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

BOB was determined that the girl across from him in the train should not depart on her way without an effort, upon his part, to meet and know her.

His sister Letty—and who, if not a sister, is able to judge a man?—said that Bob was just the best and most unselfish person one could imagine.

Letty told her husband, despairingly, that Bob hadn't an ounce of romance in his honest being—wherein Letty was wrong. She could not know of his secret dreams—dreams still left from his first youth. And so now here, in a tiresome train, was visualized at last the object of his dreaming. Perhaps Miss Connie Carson had brought these dreams to life, in the inadvertence of her smile. Taking her seat opposite she had winsomely smiled at the strange, big man regarding her. That the smile had been promptly taken back left no remedy for its damaging impression. The supposedly unromantic Bob sat blinking, thinking. "Beg pardon," said the young woman. "For the moment I mistook you for a friend of my brother's—something about your shoulders and your glasses, maybe—beg pardon."

The young woman opened a magazine and absently read. Miles slipped by—she might be going to get off almost anywhere, and pass out of his life—strangely desolate thought. "May I," asked Bob politely, "open the window for you? These car windows are difficult."

The young woman looked up, saw Bob's embarrassment, recognized with a skill born of former encounters the eagerness of his gaze.

"Couldn't you think of something original?" saucily asked Miss Connie Carson, opening the window. "No, thank you; it's all right."

She returned to her magazine. Feeling quite as foolish as he now looked, Bob returned to his opposite seat. So, she thought him an ordinary flirt. He grinned. As such she could not have squelched him more completely. One hates ridicule.

The miles slipped by—she might be getting off anywhere—he had to know her. Every moment her charm grew upon him; he was possessed of a new strange fancy that they understood each other; that she was aware of his admiration; knew it to be not of a light sort; was making it hard for him.

He approached the opposite seat frankly. His dark eyes troubled. "Please," begged Bob, and then smiled at his unusual request. "Allow me to talk to you for a few moments. I know it would be something to remember the rest of my life. I know I'm talking like an idiot, but I can't seem to help it. I just cannot let you go out of my life like this."

The young woman calmly regarded him. "I haven't come into it yet," she remarked.

The train came to a sudden stop. Passengers went out to the platforms to ascertain the cause of delay. It would be necessary to await the coming of a new engine; the conductor explained the one in use had become slightly disabled. The passengers sat in their seats as patiently as they might. Strangers heretofore found friendly discussion concerning the disabled engine and various personal affairs. But the one woman in the world refused to make acquaintance with her unknown admirer.

"In an hour or so," she told Bob coldly, "we shall be separated and unremembering. I do not like," added Miss Connie Carson primly, "a stranger who attempts to attract my notice—by any means," she further added severely.

Crestfallen, Bob took a deserted seat just before. He did not wish to remain where a lovely vision was ever more firmly impressing itself upon his consciousness, to his future unrest. He closed his eyes, drew down his hat brim; beneath the brim he still seemed to see blue glancing eyes. He knew she was there behind, from the rustling of the magazine pages as she turned them. The car gave a sudden jolt—lurched violently on its way. Bob felt an obscuring blow—not a painful one. Confusedly he groped at the soft thing enveloping his head; found other smaller hands endeavoring to assist him. Then, oh; unbelievable! His dream woman stood before him, a heavy cloak in her arms.

"It fell from the rack," she said. She appeared less dependent; more like a frightened child. Nevertheless, Bob spoke coldly.

"I dislike," he said, "a stranger to attempt to attract my attention—by any means."

They were laughing. "They tell me," Miss Connie Carson voiced her fear, "that we are using the disabled engine, temporarily repaired. Don't you think that dangerous?"

Bob looked grave, but his dark eyes twinkled. And beneath the twinkle the young woman read earnestness.

"I have a sister," Bob said, "who considers me a true protector. Would you accept the assurance of my near presence during the rest of our trip?"

Miss Carson folded away her magazine. It was Letty, awaiting anxiously the arrival of the delayed train, who suggested that they drive Miss Carson to her home in the city in their car. And no one was more happy than Letty when her brother's long dream came true.

Incidentally, Connie, as Bob's wife, is happy, too.

How Bees Keep Warm.

Honeybees turn on the heat in their apartment houses at 57 degrees Fahrenheit. When it gets that cold, they form a compact spherical cluster. Bees on the inside of the ball become active and walk, wiggle and beat their wings to generate heat. The outer shell of the cluster is made up of bees that cuddle close and stay still. They furnish the insulation which prevents the escape of heat so effectively that there may be 75 degrees difference between the inside and the outside, only 4 1/2 inches away. Thousands of dollars are lost to American beekeepers every year, however, by bees working themselves to death in keeping warm this way.

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 3

WHAT ISRAEL LEARNED AT SINAI

LESSON TEXT—Deut. 4:32-40. GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might—Deut. 5:5. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Knowing and Obeying God's Law. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Foundation of Israel's Life.

Deuteronomy, the book from which our lesson is taken, means "second law." It is a second law in the sense that it is a restatement and interpretation of the law given at Sinai, for a new generation in a new country. This new generation needed a true conception of God and also an apprehension of the wonderful grace which had selected them and made them a channel through which God's grace would flow to the world.

I. God's Unparalleled Goodness to Israel (Deut. 4:32-34).

This was shown:

1. By Speaking Audibly Out of the Midst of the Fire (vv. 32, 33). This honor conferred upon them was unique. It was unequalled. (1) In past history—"the days that are past since the day that God created man upon the earth." (2) Anywhere—"from one side of heaven unto the other." (3) In character—"there hath been no such great thing as this great thing is." (4) In story or rumor—"or hath been heard like it!" (5) In dignity and majesty—"did ever people hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of the fire."

2. By His Marvelous Deliverance of Israel From the Egyptian Bondage (v. 34). Here, too, His grace is unique. (1) In liberation—"take him a nation from the midst of another nation." (2) In the method employed. (a) By temptations—testings, that is, plagues. (b) By signs and wonders—crossing Red sea, pillar of cloud. (c) By war (See Exod. 14:4; 15:3-10). (d) By outstretched arm—Divine interposition, such as opening the Red sea for Israel and closing it upon the Egyptians. (e) By great terrors—the death of the first born.

II. The Reason Why the Lord So Dealt With Israel (Deut. 4:35-38).

1. That They Might Know That the Lord Is Unique in the Midst of a World of Idolaters. God's aim was to establish a nation who would know Him as the only God and make this essential and blessed truth known to other nations.

2. That They Might Know His Love for Them (vv. 37, 38). He loved them for their fathers' sake and through them would make real His covenant purpose.

III. The Obligation of Israel (Deut. 4:39, 40).

They were to consider and receive in their heart the thought that the Lord was the alone God. What we think about God is revealed in our lives. The law to which obedience was to be rendered was that set forth in the Ten Commandments, as recorded in Exodus 2:1-17.

1. The first emphasizes the unity of God and enjoins the obligation of single-hearted worship and service (v. 3).

2. The second is directed against the worship of the true God under false forms.

3. The third is directed against the taking of God's name in vain; that is, in a lying, deceptive, unreal way.

4. The fourth enjoins work on six days and forbids work on the seventh.

5. The fifth rests upon the fact that parents stand to their children in the place of God—therefore enjoins obedience to them.

6. The sixth shows the sanctity of human life and that the one who murders has sinned against God, for man was created in the likeness and image of God.

7. The seventh is the butwart thrown around the home. This commandment may be broken by unclean thoughts and affections as well as by outward acts.

8. The eighth strikes at the sin of theft.

9. The ninth strikes at the sin of lying.

10. The tenth strikes at the desire for that which is unlawful to own.

Building for Eternity.

If we work upon marble, it will perish; if we work upon brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal souls. If we imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of fellowmen, we engrave on these tablets something which brightens all eternity.—Daniel Webster.

Keep Climbing.

The vine that has no trellis loses its beauty in the dust, and dies because it cannot climb. It is even so with the spirit of man. If it cannot climb, it dies.—Herald of Gospel Liberty.

Learning to Walk.

One must be willing to fall down in order to be able to get up and walk.—Baptist World.

An Open Gate.

Idleness is the gate of all harm.—The Glideon.

Scientists Claim Earth Is Fragment of Sun

Astronomers, geologists and physicists are generally agreed that, vast ages ago, the sun was a spinning, flaming mass of matter, and that as it whirled, a series of fragments detached themselves from it, which became the planets, one of which is our earth. A fragment of the earth's mass broke off and formed the moon. Astronomers give us convincing reasons for supposing that sun and earth and moon and all that system were then whirling about at a speed much greater than the speed at which they are moving today, and that at first our earth was a flaming thing upon which no life could live. It was certainly long ages from the time of the breaking off of the earth's mass from the sun before condensation of water and rainfall could take place. The very oldest rocks must have been formed before there was any sea at all, when the earth was too hot for a sea to exist and when the water that is now sea was an atmosphere of steam mixed with the air. Its higher levels were dense with clouds, from which a hot rain fell toward the rocks below, to be converted again into steam long before it reached their red-hot surfaces. It is quite impossible to estimate the ages that must have passed before the earth's crust solidified and atmosphere and water and rainfall as we know it were possible.

Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, announced at New Orleans that he was out of politics.

When above the pole the constellation moves from east to west; when below the pole from west to east. NEWSPAPERS

Will be Among Mail First Handled
According to Order.

Beginning Friday, newspapers will be accorded the same treatment in the mail as letters and other first-class matter, by an order made public January 30 by Postmaster General New.

According to Postmaster Gessley of this city the new rule, shorn of technical terms, means better mail service for daily newspapers. Where daily newspapers previously were thrown into a mail bag of fourth class matter and allowed to ride thru in this way, they will be placed in a special bag and labeled "Newspapers," so that it will be carried thru without delay.

All down the line the clerks and messengers will place the bag of newspapers where it will be among the first mail moved and handle it accordingly.

Capital of Great Empire

Old Fort Niagara, once capital of an enormous empire and long the castle of the emperor, in fact if not in name, is one of the most antique fortifications now in use, says Col. Frederick D. Evans. There has been a commanding officer at the post continuously since 1679, when La Salle constructed and occupied with his hardy voyagers Fort Conti on the present site of Niagara. The post is located on a wooded peninsula stretching into the water between the Niagara river and Lake Ontario. Of the 288 acres which comprise the reservation fully 115 are covered with great oaks, a virgin forest on slightly rolling land. The post itself harmonizes with the rugged landscape, although the buildings and equipment have been made modern in every way. The castle or chateau of the old fort has a beauty of architecture surprising when the time and circumstances of its building are considered. It was completed in 1723, all of the material for its construction having been brought from the French settlements on the St. Lawrence. The magazine was added in 1757.

A bastioned stockade of earth and tree trunks was built around the castle in 1731, which inclosed about an acre of ground. Shortly afterward the energetic elder Pitt came into power in the British parliament and bent his will to taking all Canada and the Mississippi valley from France. The capture of the key fort, Niagara, was an important part of his plans. Twice, in 1755 and 1756, the English launched expeditions against the fortresses at the Falls but neither force ever reached the fort, although they served to arouse the French government to a state of alarm, and one of the most trusted French colonial military leaders, Pouchot, was sent to take command in 1757. Pouchot enlarged the defensive works eight separate times during his residence in the chateau.

The British in their third attempt to take the fort met with success. In 1759 Sir William Johnson took up his duties there and during the 16 years which he remained became the most powerful man in western America. Continuing, Colonel Evans says: "During the Revolutionary war Fort Niagara was a thorn, about the size of a railroad spike, in the thigh of the colonies. It was from the castle that expeditions which ravaged southern New York and Pennsylvania were directed. The Wyoming Cherry valley and Schoharie massacres were all projected there, and Fort Niagara became a prize scalp market. White scalps reached a market value at one time of about $8, but the payment was usually made in goods in various sorts. Even after the signing of peace at the close of the Revolutionary war, in 1783, Great Britain retained Fort Niagara, relinquishing it in 1796, when it was occupied for the first time by United States troops.

"The first American flag to fly from the castle after it had been taken over was carried there through the then wilderness by the Empire Loyalists club. The fort was again under the cross of Saint George during the War of 1812, when a party of British and Indians captured it. The terms of peace made the next year required that it be evacuated.

"The present bakery at the post, as well as the old barracks, bastions and block houses were constructed in 1770-1771, surrounding the castle. The Castle of Fort Niagara ranks in American historical importance with Faneuil Hall, Independence Hall and the Citadel at Montreal, although it is older than any of the former. No building in the United States with such a background is so little known or so much neglected.

"Construction of the present post was begun in 1841. It consists of brick barracks for eight organizations with suitable officers' quarters and quarters for 24 married enlisted men. During the World war one of the training camps for officers was located on the post."—U. S. Army Recruiting News.

Tender-Hearted Clara

George was courting Clara. Clara had a dog—one of the kind that barks but seldom bites. George knew the old saying, "Love me, love my dog," and so he courted the dog as well. One day the dog didn't bark, but did bite. "Oh, George!" cried Clara, "what is the matter?"

"That confounded dog has taken a piece out of my calf."

"Good gracious!" exclaimed Clara, wringing her hands in anguish, "I hope it will not make him ill!"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

A clipping from an Omaha, Nebraska, paper carries the marriage announcement of Miss Lillian Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Carrie Johnson, of Ashville, Ohio and Mr. Robert Doherty, son of Mrs. Robert Doherty, of Omaha, and the late Rev. Doherty, which took place in Council Bluffs, Iowa, Monday morning, January 21, at St. Paul's Episcopal church. Rev. Stanley Jones, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Omaha and an old friend of the groom, performed the ceremony. Miss Johnson was a graduate of the Ashville high school and attended school at the Ohio university, taking a teacher's course. She successfully taught in the Ashville schools for several years, then took a government position at Washington D. C. and at Dayton, Ohio, both under civil service during and following the World war. While at Dayton she accepted a position in the schools at that place as a teacher which position she recently resigned.—Pickaway News.

"I'm terribly worried about my friend, Margie, Kelly," said the House Detective.

"What's Margie doin'?" asked the House Detective.

"Margie is sweet on a guy with an automobile," answered the girl. "Everybody in this man's town who has an automobile and can dance goes to the Purple Iris Inn every night."

"The guy at the Purple Iris who has charge of the dancing is so good looking it hurts. He dances like a fairy fastened to a balloon. I know Margie and I know she will fall for that guy. A boy friend told me the dancing fool who is so good looking, is hooked up with a bunch of bootleggers and if Margie should marry him, he will get pinched some day and then she will be in a pretty mess."

"Well, I would not worry till the fellow with the car takes her there and she falls for the other guy," laughed the House Detective.

"Kelly," answered the girl, "you fooled one woman into marrying you, but you do not know anything about women. They must worry. I dropped in on Lucille the other day and she's got a nice husband and a nice flat and he makes a lot of money and is good to her, but when I got there she was crying. She said she was so contented and happy she just knew it couldn't last, and she was worrying over what she would do if anything happened so she would not be happy any more."

"If a woman has no past to worry her, and nothing to worry her at present, she will worry over the future. Any time a woman gets to the place where nothing worries her, she is on the toboggan and due for a crash at the foot of the slide. All her life a girl has to worry over men. First it's her father and brothers; then it's her lover and husband and when he gets too old and settled to worry over, she has got to worry over her own boys. No woman is ever happy unless she's got a man to worry over and if she hasn't one that worries her most of all."

PROTESTS DISREGARDED

Jap Exclusion Section to Remain in Immigration Bill.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The house immigration committee decided to retain the Japanese exclusion section in the forthcoming immigration restriction bill, in spite of the protests of the government of Japan and American interests having large contracts in Japan, which they assert will be jeopardized by the exclusion law. When these protests first began to pile in a few days ago a plan to extend the quota privilege to Japanese nationals was taken under consideration. When news of this turn in the situation reached the Pacific coast states, it kicked up such a reaction that members of congress from that part of the country got busy, with the foregoing result.

Lower California Cattle.

In addition to cattle, many excellent mules are raised in Lower California. Horses are rarely used. The faithful burro is the principal means of transportation. Except for a few thousand in La Frontera, there are no domestic sheep in the country. In the southern part there are numerous flocks of goats. The largest cattle ranch on the peninsula comprises almost 1,000,000 acres.

"The best comedy picture of the year" was the general verdict last night, when Buster Keaton's latest film, "Our Hospitality," a Joseph M. Henck production, released thru Metro opened at the Met theater.

BUSTER KEATON

The story concerns the troubles of the last of the McKays when he returns to his home in Kentucky and makes the technical mistake of falling in love with the beautiful daughter of the house of Canfield, which family has wiped out the McKays in their long-standing feud. Keaton was simply immense as the naive youth and his adventures left the spectators with jawbones aching from laughter.

Keaton is supported by his wife, Natalie Talmadge while Buster Keaton II, one year old, also appears. The story and titles were by Jean Havez, Joe Mitchell and Clyde Bruckman, photography by Elgin Lessley and Gordon Jennings, historical sets by Fred Gabouri and the direction by Buster Keaton and Jack Blystone.

STILL AIDING WAR HEROES

Mrs. Alice P. Bristol, Through Legion Auxiliary, Continues Efforts in Behalf of Ex-Service Men.

Mrs. Alice P. Bristol, chairman of the committee for co-operation with other agencies for the American Legion Auxiliary, is continuing a record of service work begun at the first call to arms in 1917. Mrs. Bristol, along with a number of other brave workers of Stratford, Conn., "carried on" the home work while the men of that city, many of their own blood, were at the front in the fight. By dint of this service, Mrs. Bristol, through the American Legion Auxiliary is still aiding the cause of those who did their part for their country.

As a recognition of the splendid war work of the women of Stratford, the selectmen formed an organization which they termed the "Minute Women of Stratford," and at the close of the war, awarded each one of the workers a handsomely engraved certificate attesting this service. The work consisted of home relief, sale of Liberty bonds and war saving stamps, and the countless other duties which the good women of America were called on to perform for the men in uniform.

Since the armistice, Mrs. Bristol has headed local unit work, and has been instrumental in many important moves for relief of the ex-service man. It was through her suggestion, it is said, that the men of Connecticut in hospitals in other states received a cash gift for Christmas. But her work as national committeewoman of the American Legion Auxiliary is another important post which has been intrusted to her.

To Mrs. Bristol was given the chairmanship of a committee seeking close co-operation with other well-known women's organizations of the country. This committee aims to establish relationship between all bodies working for civic betterment, relief of former service men, and countless other duties with which the womanhood of America has become associated.

One of the first steps of this committee was to effect liaison between the American Legion Auxiliary and the General Federation of Women's Clubs. An application for membership in the federation, through President Kata Waller Barrett was accepted, and the auxiliary assumed an immediate participation in the councils of federated club work. The Legion's Auxiliary is also a participant in the National Council of Women, composed of nearly 900 organizations. This council includes such organizations as the American Association of University Women, International Sunshine society, Ladies of the Maccabees, National Council of Jewish Women, National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' associations, National Federation of Music Clubs, National Florence Crittenton mission, National Kindergarten association, Needlework Guild of America, Women's Christian Temperance union, Y. W. C. A., and others.

During the convention of the auxiliary in San Francisco, the committee plans a "Co-operation Night" at which representatives of practically every body holding membership in the council will be asked to be present to hear further plans for service as outlined by the Legion's Auxiliary. It is expected that a definite program of co-operation will be an outgrowth of the meeting. Auxiliary officials believe that because the membership of the organization approximates that of most other women's bodies in the country, no constructive program, looking to progress along the lines indicated for their work, can be successful unless joined by their organization.

Texas Will Have Exhibit.
Not only will the traditional "old gray mare" from Texas be there, but a long-horned Texas steer will be taken by the Lone Star state Legionnaires to the national convention of the American Legion at San Francisco. Plans for special stunts on the way to and at the convention were made recently by John O. Townes, Texas department commander.

Palestine's Rainfall.
Palestine has a remarkable advantage in putting through engineering projects to store the rainfall, which occurs five months of the year, because the Mediterranean is at a higher level than the main water basins of the country, the River Jordan and the lakes, and therefore little of the total rainfall runs off directly to the sea.

Remedies for Cholera.
Old-fashioned Turkish physicians have plenty of remedies for cholera. An agate in the pocket and a hyacinth worn near the neck are much esteemed, but the bone of a dead child carried in the pocket is regarded as nearly as efficacious.

For instance you can buy a complete motor in running condition for $10 or a complete rear axle and drive shaft system for from $5 to $10. The local Elk lodge chartered a car Wednesday evening to attend an initiation of Elks given by the Columbus lodge of Elks. Forty-nine members took in the excursion.

A number of candidates were initiated, but owing to the fact of the lodge being in mourning for the late Nicholas A. Court, proprietor of the Chittenden hotel, a social session was not given following the initiation which is the usual custom.

Palestine's Rainfall.

Palestine has a remarkable advantage in putting through engineering projects to score the rainfall, which occurs five months of the year, because the Mediterranean is at a higher level than the main water basins of the country, the River Jordan and the lakes, and therefore little of the total rainfall runs off directly to the sea.

Remedies for Cholera.

Old-fashioned Turkish physicians have plenty of remedies for cholera. An agate in the pocket and a hyacinth worn near the neck are much esteemed, but the bone of a dead child carried in the pocket is regarded as nearly as efficacious.

CALL BARNHILL IF YOU WANT FIRST CLASS WORK IN CLEANING. THERE IS A REASON. WE USE ENERGINE. 21janydttf.

FORD REPAIR OPPORTUNITY.

During the month of February, Ford owners can purchase for repair purposes, complete motors, rear axle systems, frames, carburetors, etc., at ridiculously low prices. These assemblies are parts of cars we have dismantled 1914, 15, 16 and 17 models. For instance you can buy a complete motor in running condition for $10 or a complete rear axle and drive shaft system for from $5 to $10. If you are overhauling your old car it will pay to look up the items that you need.

Compliment for Uncle Dick.

Uncle Dick, a bachelor, fond of children, was a great favorite with his little nieces and nephews, so when the new baby came and papa told them that the stork had left it at their house, Buddy said thoughtfully: "Too bad the stork didn't know where Uncle Dick lives."

HERE AND THERE

National executive committee of the American Legion announced that the 1924 national convention will be held in St. Paul, Minn., the third week in September.

Brigadier General Benjamin W. Green, 77, head of the United Confederate Veterans of America and one of the few surviving southern generals of the Civil war, died at his home in Little Rock, Ark.

Six bandits, traveling in two automobiles, lined up 30 employees of the West St. Louis Trust company in St. Louis and escaped with $26,850 in cash.

President Coolidge re-designated Thomas O. Marvin of Massachusetts as chairman and William S. Culbertson of Kansas as vice chairman of the United States tariff commission.

Eight bandits, four of them armed with sawed-off shotguns, held up a motor truck in Philadelphia, hurled the driver to the street and drove off with the machine, which was loaded with 15 barrels of alcohol owned by a commercial alcohol concern.

All Learn Jiu-Jitsu.

Japanese children begin to study jiu-jitsu in their earliest years for it is a system of physical culture, hygiene and ethics, besides being a form of self-defense and offense. A series of exercises to give strength and flexibility to the limbs are first taught later the pupil is shown the fine art of using an adversary's strength against himself, which is the real principle of jiu-jitsu.

Life's Treasures.

The gold of life does not lie hidden in mines; it sparkles in tiny sands along the common path of every day. He who only gathers it bit by bit from daily duties and pleasures and opportunities and friendships will find himself the possessor of the real treasure at last.

Temperature in the Earth.
Scientists used to think that temperature increased at a fairly regular rate with descent into the earth's crust, and they figured that a temperature would soon be reached where every known substance would be melted. Recent facts have upset this theory. For instance, in a South African mine the temperature at 8,000 feet is only 102 degrees, while in the Kalgoorlie mines of Australia practically no variation of temperature is shown between 1,400 and 2,300 feet. The old earth may be solid, after all.—The National Geographic Magazine.

First U. S. Magazine.
A publication called the American Magazine, was issued in colonial times by Andrew Bradford, a printer, and a business rival of Franklin. It was edited by John Webbe. The first number appeared in Philadelphia, February 13, 1714. Franklin's periodical, the General Magazine, appeared three days later. Both publications were short lived, the American Magazine lasting only two numbers and Franklin's for six.

Burned Paper Money.
Burned paper money should be carefully packed in cotton so that it will not fall to pieces, and sent to the redemption division, Treasury department, Washington, D. C., for examination. The treasury does not make the money good as a rule, unless enough of it is left to be recognized. If the paper has been reduced to ashes, the treasury will, under certain circumstances, however, redeem it on the presentation of affidavits.

Britons Like Soda Straws.
American soda straws are now popular in Great Britain. Last year 50,000,000 straws were consumed by patrons of British fountains and tea rooms, and most of them came from America. Japanese straws are on the market, but are of inferior quality. The soda fountain trade has developed by leaps and bounds, the consumption of ice cream having increased 1,000 per cent during the last year.

Oldest U. S. Library.
The Philadelphia library, located at South Juniper and Locust streets with a branch at Broad street, is the oldest library in the United States. It was founded in 1731 by 50 young men, who subscribed 100 pounds for the purchase of books and further agreed to pay each 10 shillings annually during 50 years for the same purpose. This library was sponsored by Benjamin Franklin, being his "first project of a public nature."

Sheepskin for Sick.
A sheepskin is of great value to a person who is confined to the bed. Put under the sheet, wool side up, it is delightfully soft and restful for the patient. It is well to have two of them, so that one can be in use while the other is being aired. To keep them soft and duffy they should be beaten on the back—never on the wool side.

Purity of Mind.
You can no more filter your mind into purity than you can compress it into calmness; you must keep it pure, and throw no stones into it, if you would have it quiet.—Ruskin.

Sheepskin for Sick.
A sheepskin is of great value to a person who is confined to the bed. Put under the sheet, wool side up, it is delightfully soft and restful for the patient. It is well to have two of them, so that one can be in use while the other is being aired. To keep them soft and fluffy they should be beaten on the back—never on the wool side.

Purity of Mind.
You can no more filter your mind into purity than you can compress it into calmness; you must keep it pure, and throw no stones into it, if you would have it quiet.—Ruskin.

Jacket Blouse Is Gay Fall Fashion

Favored Garment Is Only Slightly Altered for Present Season.

One of the interesting aspects of the fall blouse fashions is the continued popularity of the jacquette, especially for autumn wear, observes a fashion authority in the New York Tribune. The jacquette was worn so extensively during the spring months that it might have been supposed to have had a brief and exuberant flowering and an early death. But such is not the case. It remains with us, but in slightly altered guise.

The sash has to a considerable extent disappeared, and where it stays it is of such soft materials as to make it possible to wear the jacquette under an outer garment. And in the majority of cases it has been supplanted by a buckle at the side after the style of buckles on dresses bearing the side-drape, or in some instances with an inconspicuous fastening of a deep enfolding belt. At this point the jacquette becomes almost indistinguishable from the costume blouse, which is expected to come into its own with the days of late autumn and winter when the coat suit, fur-trimmed and sumptuous, makes its appearance.

The keynote of the new blouses is opulence either of materials or decoration. There are blouses of duvetyne, cut velvet and crepes of the heaviest quality. The general lines are the same usually adapted to the straight silhouette, but a new note of Oriental luxury is found in such barbaric colors as Chinese yellow, used not only in embroidery designs but occasionally as a solid color. And there are brilliant and daring combinations of color in which yellow and red predominate, especially where dark backgrounds are used. In the new imports every shade from pale green to bright red is seen, though, of course, the smart Parisienne follows the dictates of her complexion as well as fashion.

With the color, the influences of early civilization still dominate the mode. Fashion expresses in a thousand despotie ways the Persian, the Byzantine, the Karomanian, Turkestan and peasant motifs. However, to one who looks more deeply than the casual observer, it is apparent that flower designs are fighting their way into favor. Flower colors—rose red, gentian blue—are much spoken of.

There are blouses made of silk so printed that they are almost legible. Designers say that at no time can they remember having such demands made upon them for new patterns. The colors are exquisite—an everlasting silken rainbow greets your eye.

Ribbon Powder Cases Made in All Colors

As long as women powder their noses—and who among us cares to look upon them after they cease doing it?—they will carry powder cases, and it goes without saying that as long as they carry them they will continue to make them of ribbon. One of the very latest models is fashioned in the shape of a square envelope with the flap curiously adorned with rosebuds of gold-colored sealing wax and tiny ribbon rosettes in contrasting colors. These cases are made up in all colors, so that one has no difficulty in matching one's frock. Emerald green, coral and peacock blue are among the favored colors.

With Black Gowns.
Bright shoes are being worn, not so much with white as with black costumes. A thin black dress is affected by chic women for afternoon, tea or informal dinner, and the bright shoes have their color repeated in a necklace or three or four bead bracelets.

BIG LOSS

John J. McKenzie Has Fine Cattle Stolen
From Field.

John J. McKenzie, who farms the G. A. Schleyer land near Leisville, sustained a loss of seven Hereford white faced cattle last Sunday evening.

Mr. McKenzie did not miss the cattle until Tuesday when he rounded up his cattle for shipment he discovered that he was short seven head. He valued them at $50 a head.

Demont Kerns, who lives in the neighborhood returned home late Sunday night from Kingston and ran into a man driving a bunch of cattle down the road. Mr. Kerns reported the fact to Charles Morris. He did not think anything of it as frequently cattle are driven over the roads at night. It is thought the man seen driving the cattle was a member of a gang of thieves waiting in a truck which was passed down the road. The cattle it is thought were loaded in the truck later and were taken to some city not far away and were sold. Mr. McKenzie has been ill for several days and left the feeding of his cattle to a hired hand, and he did not miss the stolen cattle.

HARTMAN THEATER

The great American thriller, "Whispering Wires" the melo drama that Kate L. McLaurin made for the stage from a Saturday evening Post story of the same name by Henry Leverage will be the attraction at the Hartman theater, Columbus, for three days, February 11, 12 and 14, with a matinee on Wednesday. This very successful play ran all last year in New York and many of the metropolitan dramatic critics declared it was a far better play than either "The Bat" or "The Cat and the Canary." The original story from which it was dramatized was a corking good detective yarn and in transferring it to the stage Miss McLaurin was careful not to lose any of its exciting moments. Montgomery Stockbridge is one of these hard men of wealth who care nothing for anything but money. In amassing a fortune he even dealt harshly with friends. Many of those former associates turn on him and would destroy him. One of them unknown to Stockbridge sends him a letter, telling this man of wealth that his grave has been dug. Furious, he summons the police. While discussing the probable writer of the letter Stockbridge is informed over his own private telephone that he will be dead in two hours' time. And he does die despite the fact that detectives are guarding him. But to tell more would be to spoil the thrill of the play. Thrill follows thrill with a love story interwoven with laughter punctuating the more serious situations. That is why "Whispering Wires" is called the great American thriller. Since its run in New York, such cities as Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston have put their stamp of approval on it. It comes to Columbus direct from its Boston engagement of ten weeks with the original company. Mail orders are being filled in the order of their receipt. The engagement lasts only three days with a Wednesday matinee.
